

WILD PURSUIT OF BURGLARS

Washington Square Was Awakened by Fusillade of Shots.

RABBIT'S FOOT NO LUCK.

William Johnson Could Not Escape the Police, but His Companion Did.

The staid residents of the old mansions of Washington Square North were aroused by the firing of revolver shots and the capping of policemen's clubs incidental to a burglar chase at 3 o'clock this morning. Members of families as old as the government of New Amsterdam looked from their windows to see two negroes shot at by policemen as they ran across the Square.

Policeman Kelly met the two thieves at University place and Eighth street, loaded down with plunder. Each of the negroes dropped a big bundle and ran.
Kelly gained on them, but as they crossed Washington Square they separated and the policeman sounded an alarm by rapping the pavement and discharging his revolver three times.

Immediately from all sides of the Square the stillness of night was broken by the "Hap, rap, rap" of clubs on walks, which is the signal for all policemen that assistance is needed.

One of the thieves turned east into Fourth street and escaped. Kelly and several other policemen followed the second thief, who ran to Bleeker and Sullivan streets and then bolted into a saloon and hit in a closet. The bartender betrayed him and four policemen dragged him from his hiding place.

He was taken to the Mercer street station house with the two bundles. One bundle contained three sack suits of clothing, one evening suit, five pairs of trousers and other articles of wearing apparel. Similar goods were in the other bundle.

The prisoner said the man was William Johnson, twenty-six years old. He refused to give his address. In his pocket were found a letter from a prisoner in Albany prison in which the address of several women living in the Tenderloin district were given, and a rabbit's foot.
He said a woman friend had given him the rabbit's foot, and he cursed the luck it had brought him, but he begged that it be returned to him, and he took it to his cell.

The police believe the men entered and robbed some private house.

UNLUCKY PAWN TICKET.

Its Possession Makes Police Believe Clark a Plighthouse Thief.

John Clark, twenty-six years old, no home, was seen coming from the flat-house at Thirtieth street and Second avenue last night. Central Office Detective Muller arrested him. At the East Thirty-fifth street station the police found on him a funny and a pawn ticket calling for $100 worth of clothing.
The police say the clothing was stolen from the home of William Lawler, at No. 35 East Thirty-second street, on Jan. 4. Clark was locked up.

CARELESS WITH GAS JET.

Seaman Seaman Nearly Ends His Career on the Briny Seas.

Peter Seaman, thirty years old, a steward on an Atlantic liner, took a room in the Magnolia Hotel, at Chambers and West streets. He turned the gas off and then on, and was found unconscious this morning. The hotel doctor revived him.
